INVISIBLE TRANSLATION RECEIVES IGBC GREEN BUSINESS CERTIFICATION

The Institute for Green Business Certification (IGBC) announced today that Invisible Translation, a translation firm in the Montreal area of the province of Quebec, has passed a comprehensive green audit and achieved the Institute's "Green Business Certification".

Invisible Translation, owned and operated by Daniel Mainville, is a highly skilled Canadian language services company based in the Montreal area, in the province of Quebec. It provides translation, editing and proofreading as well as writing services. Invisible Translation has established an extensive network of skilled language professionals who are registered with the Association of Translators and Interpreters of Ontario \(ATIO\), with the Ordre des traducteurs, terminologues et interprètes agréés du Québec \(OTTIAQ\) or with another member association recognized by the Canadian Translators, Terminologists and Interpreters Council \(CTTIC\), and who have a high degree of expertise in multiple subject areas. Their common objective is to provide quality language services in Canadian French and English as well as in Spanish.

Philippa Settels, IGBC's Eastern Canadian representative, said "What better way for Invisible Translation gain credibility but also be recognized for all the green efforts that it has pledged to make, by becoming certified?" She said she is very pleased that Mr. Mainville recognizes the added value to their business by completing IGBC's green audit and achieving certification. "People here in Quebec are becoming increasingly conscious of the environment and the need to live and work in a more sustainable and eco-friendly way – and I'm sure that many businesses in the region will soon follow the example of Invisible Translation to gain their green business certification," she said.

IGBC President, Garry H. Peterson, compliments the company for their high standards and commitment to the community's environmental health and well-being, and he congratulates them on becoming Green Business Certified. "Invisible Translation is a leader in the environmental movement and the survival of our world." Peterson said.

The Institute for Green Business Certification (IGBC) is the first international organization of its kind to certify businesses' environmental practices and provides consulting to businesses and organizations regarding environmental management and sustainability. It uses a comprehensive Green Audit that is becoming a model for what it means to be a "green business". The Green Audit evaluates a business in 10 different categories. IGBC's certification process has been used by small, medium and large companies and organizations worldwide.

IGBC is accredited with the Better Business Bureau (BBB®). For more information about IGBC, please visit: www.gbcertified.ca
